The Civil Services Examination (CSE)

The Civil Services Examination (CSE) is conducted every year by the Union Public Service Commission (UPSC) as a common examination for recruitment to various services like the Indian Administrative Service, Indian Foreign Service and Indian Police Service, as well as Group A and Group B Central Services.

The notification for the examination, (giving rules and the syllabus for all subjects included in the exam) is normally published in the month of November/December every year in Employment News/Rozgar Samachar and Gazette of India as well as in some Newspapers. All students are advised to get a copy of this notification from the Employment News or other publications.

The Civil Services Examination is comprised of:

- a Preliminary examination consisting of two objective-type papers (General Studies Paper I and General Studies Paper II also popularly known as Civil Service Aptitude Test or CSAT), and
- a Main Examination consisting of nine papers of the conventional (essay) type, in which two papers are qualifying and only marks of seven are counted.
- A successful candidate sits for 32 hours of examination during the complete process.
- Those who pass the Main Exam then have a Final Interview.

SCHEME OF EXAMINATION

I. Aptitude Test (also called CSAT or the Civil Services Aptitude Test)

The Aptitude Test has been normally held by the UPSC on a Sunday in the latter half of May every year. The exact date will be published in the Notification.

The Aptitude Test will have two papers (Papers I & II) with Objective (Multiple Choice) type questions and carries a maximum of 200 marks each. Each paper will be of two hours' duration.

- Paper I tests the candidate's knowledge on current events, history of India and the Indian national movement, Indian and world geography, Indian polity, Panchayati Raj system and governance, economic and social development, environmental ecology, biodiversity, climate change and general science, Art and culture.

- Paper II tests the candidate's skills in comprehension, interpersonal skills, communication, logical reasoning, analytical ability, decision making, problem solving, basic numeracy, data interpretation, English language comprehension skills and mental ability. It is qualifying in nature and the marks obtained in this paper are not counted for merit. However, it is mandatory for the candidate to score a minimum of 33 per cent in this paper to qualify the Prelims exam.

Paper II of the Preliminary Examination will be qualifying in nature i.e. it will not be graded for eligibility for the Main Examination but a candidate will need to score at least 33% to be eligible for grading on the basis of marks of Paper I of the Preliminary Examination. Those who qualify in the Prelims become eligible for the Main.

II. Main Examination

Only those who qualify in the Preliminary Examination in any year are eligible for admission to the Main Examination of that year, provided they are otherwise eligible for admission to the Main Examination.

The written part of the Main Examination is usually conducted in October/November every year (again the dates for 2022 and 2023 are still undecided) spread over a period of 3 weeks and consists of 9 papers, as detailed below, of the conventional essay-type questions, in the subjects prescribed by the Commission.

The Main Examination is intended to assess the overall intellectual traits and the depth of understanding of the candidates, rather than merely the range of their information and memory. Sufficient choice of questions will be allowed in the question papers

One subject is to be selected from the prescribed list of optional subjects. The papers are broadly of the Honours degree level, i.e. a level higher than the Bachelor's degree and lower than the Master's degree. In Engineering, Law and Medical Sciences, the level corresponds to the Bachelor's degree.

It would, therefore, be advisable to choose subjects with which the student is already familiar to a large extent, having studied it at the Graduate/PG level.

Do not be carried away by the impression that some subjects are easier to score in than others. Performance depends upon the level of individual proficiency in the subject.
